PA Department of Community & Economic Development
Governor's Office of General Counsel

THE POSITION:

Are you seeking a career in public service which offers a fulfilling work experience creating economic development opportunities for communities across Pennsylvania? If so, the Department of Community and Economic Development's Office of Chief Counsel (DCED-OCC) has an exciting opportunity for you. We are currently looking for an Assistant Counsel, an Attorney 02 or Attorney 03 commensurate with experience, to serve on our litigation/collections team. As a member of this team, you will provide legal services to various DCED economic development programs, all with the overarching goal of responsible stewardship of taxpayer funds, sustainable development initiatives, and operational transparency. The position, while based in the Harrisburg Capitol Complex, is eligible for a hybrid work schedule of three days in office per week at the discretion of the General Counsel.

DESCRIPTION OF WORK

The successful candidate will manage a full caseload of litigation and collections matters, representing DCED before federal, state, and appellate courts. These matters are diverse in nature, ranging from statutory construction issues of first impression to creditor representation in bankruptcy proceedings, to sheriff sales and mortgage foreclosures, and to local government issues under the Municipal Financial Recovery Act (commonly known as Act 47). The successful candidate will have the opportunity to handle these matters from start to finish, taking full ownership of assigned projects while supported by experienced OCC litigators. Additionally, the candidate will represent DCED in administrative law proceedings, defending DCED determinations made in the administration of its tax credit programs. Holding recipients of economic development incentives accountable for fulfilling their contractual obligations, including the job creation and capital investment within the Commonwealth, is a critical facet of economic development and of performance-based, good government. This position allows a candidate to contribute his or her legal talents for this important public service.

As a secondary assignment, the candidate will serve as one of the attorneys working on matters related to the Right to Know Law. Duties in this area include providing advice and recommendations to DCED staff and drafting all necessary legal response documents citing reasons for redaction and exemption.

The individual who holds this position must possess solid written and oral communications skills, attention to detail, exceptional interpersonal skills, and an ability to foster trust and respect, including creating collaborative and responsive working relationships with colleagues and clients.
